Word Lens is a free downloadable app to use to translate an image or text based on an online database of text. If you have a Nexus S, it is worth trying out as it uses the camera to identify any words you hold up to the screen and displays them in a separate language. The Word Lens feature only works on the Nexus S as it uses the phone's camera and its ability to identify characters to display the translation. It is apparently more reliable than using the speech recognition engine to do the translation as it doesn't often produce the wrong character.
